

JEW REVIEW WRONGS

American Committee Holds Its Annual Meeting.

YEAR'S RECORD BLACK

Brief Account of Russian Persecutions Alone Fills 35 Closely Printed Pages.

The American Jewish Committee, a national organization whose purpose is to protect the rights of Jews in this country and abroad and to relieve them in case of persecution, held its seventh annual meeting at the Hotel Astor yesterday.

A number of subjects of vital interest to the Jewish people throughout the world were discussed. The situation of the Jews in Russia and in Rumania was reviewed.

"The status of the Jews in the territory conquered by the Balkan States is intimately related to the problem of the Jews in Rumania," says the report of the executive committee. "In that state, where Jews have been settled for centuries, they are considered aliens and are subjected to special legislation of a highly repressive nature. This Rumania does in defiance of the Treaty of Berlin."

"In both the Senate and the House of Representatives resolutions have been introduced denouncing Rumania's violation of her obligations and inquiring whether the United States may with propriety register any protest."

"The condition of our brethren in Russia," the report continues, "remains practically as hopeless as last year. The political parties who desire to concentrate control of government, commerce, industry and finance in the hands of the Russian people by oppressing other races still have a controlling voice in Russian affairs."

"All protests against inhuman restrictions were suppressed; newspapers which attempted to speak out were confiscated or suspended and the editors fined or imprisoned. A brief account of the manner in which the Jews of Russia have been persecuted during the last year fills thirty-five closely printed pages in the American Jewish Book."

"The most tragic occurrence in Jewish life for many years is the trial of Mendel Belits, at Kiev, on a charge of ritual murder. The entire Jewish people in Russia is in constant fear of massacres as an outcome of this case."

"To the usual horrors there has been added economic persecution of the Jews in Poland, in the form of a boycott skillfully maneuvered by the Russian government. This led to acts of violence, culminating in one instance in the firing of a house containing a Jewish family of eight, after all the doors and windows had been nailed up by the assassins."

"The following officers were elected: President, Louis Marshall; vice-presidents, Judge Julian W. Mack and Professor Jacob H. Hollander; treasurer, Isaac W. Bernheim, and secretary, Herman Bernstein."

The sum of $5,000 was appropriated for the relief of the persecuted Yemite and Moroccan Jews.

Among those present were Jacob H. Schiff, Judge Julian W. Mack, Rabbis Joseph S. Silverman, J. L. Joseph, B. L. Levinthal and H. Perera. Messrs. Judge Mayer Sulzberger, Dr. Cyrus Adler, Louis Marshall, Cyrus L. Sulzberger, A. Leo Weil, Harry Fischel, Dr. Harry Friedland, Cesar Cone, Dr. Herbert Friedland, Leon Kaminsky, Isaac W. Bernheim, Fulton Brylawski, Herman Bernstein, Isador Sobel, Samuel I. Hyman, Dr. P. A. Siegelstein, Isaac W. Frank, Dr. Israel Friedlander, Montague Triest, Dr. Samuel Neumann and Professor Jacob H. Hollander.

TO UNIVERSALIZE RELIGION

This Preferable to One Faith for All, Says Rabbi Wise.

Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, in the course of a sermon on "Can the Jews Accept a Universal Religion?" in the Free Synagogue, Carnegie Hall, yesterday morning, declared that "we should not strive after a universal religion, but should universalize every religion; but should make the fruits of all of them available to the larger number of men."

"Men urge," he said, "that there be a universal religion because they believe that religion-one and one religion are interchangeable terms, but in truth, though religion is one, religions are many. The essence of religion is one, the expressions of religion are many. And these men are religious."

"Three essentials and central points of the Jewish faith must be included within the elements of any imaginable universal religion—monotheism, monomorphism and monohumanism."

Dr. Wise then spoke of the recent congress of religious thought held in Paris, saying:

"The leaders of every religious thought in our days, gathered in that congress a few months ago, were almost one in holding that the important point is not to strive after a universal religion, but to universalize every religion; not to tear up any religion by its roots, but to make the fruits of every religion available for and vitally sustaining to a larger number of men."

"Does this plea seem to be counter to the dream of the prophet—have we not all one Father? Yes, we have. But must we all call Him by the same name and draw near to Him in the same way? Any house of God shall be for every man, but no house of man can be for the all-God of all men and all faiths."

LIVE TOPICS AT INSTITUTE

'Better New York' Discussions to Replace Lectures at Cooper Union.

The problems that confront the incoming administration will be discussed at Tuesday and Friday meetings in Cooper Union during this and the coming month. These conferences will supplant the usual series of lectures.

The first conference will be to-morrow night on "The City's Food." Congressman David J. Lewis, of Maryland, father of the parcels post in Congress, will speak on "The Parcels Post and the People's Food Supply," and Alfred W. McCann on "Pure Food and the Protection of the Consumer."

At each of the conferences, which are grouped under the general head of "A Better New York," prominent speakers will make addresses. Some of the other conferences announced are: "Planning New Needs of New York," "The Submerged Woman" and "The City's Schools."

CARDINAL HONORS JUBILEE

Presides at Opening Celebration at St. Charles Borromeo.

The parish of St. Charles Borromeo began its celebration of a three days' silver jubilee yesterday with a solemn political mass, at which Cardinal Farley presided. Bishop John J. O'Connor, of Newark, was the celebrant, and the Rev. Daniel J. Quinn, S. J., formerly president of Fordham University, preached the sermon.

The big church, which stands in West 114th street, between Seventh and Eighth avenues, was filled and hundreds were compelled to stand as Cardinal Farley ascended the throne. After the mass Cardinal Farley congratulated Monsignor Investigated Advertisements Indorsed by The Tribune.

Fee Charged for Investigation Arranged in Advance.

Under this classification the man or woman of character and ability wanting employment; the responsible employer wanting reliable and efficient help; the man or firm desiring capital for their business, or those wishing to dispose of anything that will stand the fullest investigation, may go before the readers of The Tribune with their statements indorsed by this paper.

WHEN you walk into an office to apply for a position it is not possible to demonstrate your ability to a prospective employer by the amount of dandruff on your coat collar.

Nor is it always possible to get an interview of sufficient length to enable you to do justice to your ability and experience if you are not invited to the sanctity of a business man's office with a request to call.

An advertisement under "The Tribune" will invite a request to call. You go to the business man through his favorite morning paper—an invited guest—at a propitious time to make an impression, while he leisurely prepares himself for his business day.

In effect, you tell him that your references as to your ability and experience have been investigated by The Tribune. That you had enough confidence in your business and personal integrity to ask The Tribune to make this investigation.

You save him unnecessary time and trouble. You are properly introduced by an impersonal indorsement in which he has complete confidence.

Does any man question the importance of approaching an employer in this way?

You have not used the card of a personal friend—at best only a sentimental "sight draft" on the courtesy of a busy man. You have not arbitrarily forced an issue at an inopportune time.

You call—an invited guest—with head erect, knowing that the man you are to see is interested in a worker with your qualifications.

Information about "Tribune" advertising may be had at the Tribune office, No. 154 Nassau street, or a representative will call on you.
